Free GPT Prompts

Let's come up with 5 top prompts for sales!

"Help me create a rebuttal for the common objection: [specific objection]."

Why it's a timesaver: Handling objections is a crucial part of the sales process. Rather than spending time brainstorming and refining a response to common objections, salespeople can use ChatGPT to quickly produce a well-thought-out rebuttal, allowing them to be better prepared in real-time discussions.

"Provide a summary of the key selling points for [Product/Service X]."

Why it's a timesaver: Sometimes salespeople may need to familiarize themselves with a new product or service rapidly. ChatGPT can quickly distill the main features and benefits, reducing the time taken to study and understand the product/service.

"Draft an introductory email to a potential client in the [specific industry] showcasing our [specific product/service]."

Why it's a timesaver: Writing a persuasive and tailored email for every potential client can be time-consuming. With this prompt, salespeople can get a well-structured and industry-specific draft, allowing them to reach out to more potential clients in a shorter amount of time.

"Based on the following feedback from a prospect [paste feedback], how can I refine my pitch?"

Why it's a timesaver: Feedback is essential for improving sales techniques, but interpreting and acting on it can be challenging. ChatGPT can provide actionable insights based on the feedback, helping salespeople to immediately improve their approach without lengthy analysis.

You can also include multiple feedbacks from multiple parties.

"Help me understand the main differences between our product [Product A] and our competitor's [Product B] based on the following features [paste features]

Why it's a timesaver: Comparing products manually can be tedious and might miss out on nuanced differences. With this prompt, salespeople can quickly get a comparative analysis, allowing them to position their product more effectively against competitors in discussions with potential clients.
